SCHOOL OF PHARMACY HONOR ROLL OF GIVING

Dear Friends:

As I do every year at this time, I am delighted to recognize and honor all those who have so generously contributed to the School of Pharmacy during the past academic year. Should you ever wonder whether a single gift matters, I hope the record number of names included here will convince you that when each of us gives, in any amount at all, our combined contributions make a powerful impact. Thank you.

I am especially thrilled to report that individual contributions during 2004-2005 enabled us to exceed our $25 million goal for the Campaign for the UCSF School of Pharmacy — the power to make lives better. As you may know, the School's campaign was part of the larger seven-year, $1.4 billion Campaign for UCSF, which also has just concluded on a very successful note. We have much to celebrate!

The goals of our campaign — to recruit and retain world-class faculty, to create innovative new PharmD and PhD training programs, to develop the next generation of safe and effective pharmaceuticals and to provide pharmacy care for all who need it — have never been more important than they are today. I am heartened by the fact that so many of our alumni and friends embraced this unprecedented effort, giving us the means to meet the great challenges before us.

To those of you who made a financial gift to the School during the past year, please accept my special note of appreciation. And to all of you who support us in countless other ways, thank you. The truth is that a great school of pharmacy doesn't just happen. It takes all of us.

A vision for the future

When Harry ('39) and Diana Hind established the Harry Wm. Hind and Diana V. Hind Distinguished Professorship in Pharmaceutical Sciences II, they made history—again.

After contributing $2.65 million to endow the School of Pharmacy's very first distinguished professorship in 2003, the Hinds' new gift of $2.7 million will help to spur further innovations in biopharmaceutical sciences and pharmaceutical chemistry.

And there are few scientists who fit the bill as well as James Wells, PhD, who will hold the first Hind Distinguished Professorship. Cofounder of the South San Francisco-based pharmaceutical company, Sunesis, and a pioneer in developing new drug discovery and protein engineering technologies, Dr. Wells co-invented a novel drug-discovery process called "Tethering" to efficiently screen thousands of molecules in search of the most potent compounds to block specific protein action. The technique has been adopted by several large pharmaceutical companies.

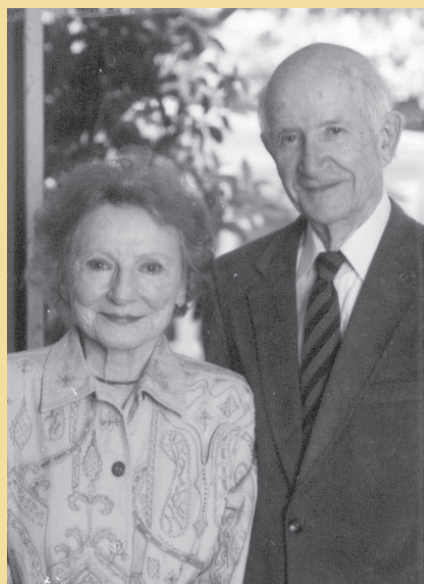

Dr. Wells, who will hold appointments in both the schools of pharmacy and medicine, also will direct a new center to boost drug discovery at the California Institute for Quantitative Biomedical Research or QB3, headquartered at UCSF's Mission Bay campus. He intends to focus his research on the basic science and technology of discovering small molecules as drug candidates, particularly for novel cancer therapeutics.

"Jim is a highly regarded and accomplished scientist. We count ourselves lucky he chose UCSF as his next research home," said Dean Mary Anne Koda-Kimble.

Keith Yamamoto, PhD, executive vice dean in UCSF's School of Medicine, concurred, saying: "There was fierce competition among several top biomedical research universities to recruit Jim. [He] will share with UCSF his creative and exciting research strategies, his ability to choose and solve high-impact problems and his biotech perspective."

Harry Hind, inventor of both the Lidoderm patch and the wetting solution that helped bring contact lenses into widespread use, has reflected, "As a graduate of the School of Pharmacy, I am very proud of the excellent work that has already been achieved at the School and even more excited about what the future holds. Discoveries in the pharmaceutical sciences are critically important to the improvement of health worldwide. Diana and I are honored to play a part in this effort."

Dean Koda-Kimble confirmed that the appointment of Jim Wells fulfills the intent of the Hinds' gift perfectly, saying, "Both Jim and the Hinds share a passion for innovations that enhance health."

Class of 1984 at their reunion during Homecoming 2004

When Janet Tamura '84 (third from the left) volunteered to co-ordinate the 20th reunion for her class, she asked her classmates to celebrate their anniversary by making a contribution to their alma mater. Janet's good idea of making a class gift to the School has now been adopted by classes planning reunions this year during Homecoming on November 5, 2005.

CAMPAIGN FOR THE SCHOOL OF PHARMACY

Dear Friends:

I am delighted to add to the Dean's letter of appreciation my own thanks to all who have helped us conclude the Campaign for the School of Pharmacy on such a successful note.

I am particularly pleased that over the past five years our alumni donor participation has increased by more than 20 percent.

This too has been a banner year—due in great part to the generosity of so many of our alumni and friends. I have especially enjoyed the opportunity to meet some of you personally, and I hope to have the chance to meet many more in the coming year.

Please know that we have made every effort to provide a complete and accurate listing of donors and gifts received from July 1, 2004, through June 30, 2005. If we have made a mistake or omission, please accept our sincere apologies. Contact me at 415/476-9806 or mppattie@support.ucsf.edu, and I will be happy to correct our records.
