September 11th–12th, UCSF takes a bold step into the future—to the year 2025. What will UCSF look like a decade from now? How will you change the landscape of care, research, and education at UCSF? How should we position UCSF to continue to lead basic and clinical discoveries, revolutionize human health and disease, educate the best and brightest? Now is the time to plan that impact, and we need your help.

WE NEED YOUR IDEAS:
In as little as five minutes, you can make your voice heard in planning that future by taking part in an online game that will guide UCSF through the challenges of the next decade. Put your ideas on the map via rapid-fire, tweet-like contributions. Follow us at #UCSF2025.

What if you could map the future of UCSF... in just 36 hours?

What would you add to the map? www.UCSF2025.org